WestRock is of the view that it is not legally required to comply with the web accessibility requirements of the AODA because it does not have direct control over its website. Rather its website is controlled by a division of the Company in the United States. When the last compliance report was filed in 2014, a Human Resources employee at WestRock was advised by a representative of the Accessibility Directorate that in the circumstance just described, the Canadian entity would not be considered to have direct control over the website within the meaning of the legislation. In any event, WestRock wants to be proactively accessible and is in the process of making its website compliant with the WCAG standards. We anticipate this update to be complete by the end of March 2018
