Our Policy on Slavery and Human Trafficking

As a WestRock business, we uphold zero tolerance to modern slavery and human trafficking.

Measures to Combat Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking

We intend to continue with our current endeavours to combat slavery and human trafficking as follows:

- continue with our established procedures for assessment of the supply chain for any risks of corruption and unethical practices and as part of WestRock working to implement a standardized, global electronic system for the qualification/assessment of suppliers;
- continue to train and educate our employees (including our procurement staff) on the Code of Conduct through our robust training programme and ensure that our procurement staff understand our global procurement policy which gives guidance on the standards that we expect of our suppliers;
- educate our supply chain by making suppliers aware of the WestRock Principles of Conduct (also available on www.westrock.com), which include statements on prohibition of forced labour; and
- obtain supplier acknowledgement of and commitment to zero tolerance to modern slavery and human trafficking by including contractual commitments in our standard purchase contracts.
